

THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

7 July 1976

Robert B. Olsen, Esq.

Dear Bob:

Thank you for your nice letter concerning my new assignment. It will be a difficult job, I know, but I think there will be as many opportunities as there will be problems. You and your colleagues on the President's Commission Staff, I still believe, played a major role in seeing to it that public understanding of the intelligence process was enhanced. At the same time, it was your good work which led to the definition of new guidelines to which we now adjust as we move into the future.

I valued our association during those trying times and I hope in the future that our paths will cross again. As and when you come to Washington, please give a call.

Faithfully yours,
